Every school market has a different affordability profile, which will continue to change because of mobility. Where does your school want to be to live its vision, mission, and values?

Asymmetry Challenges & Opportunities

Fiduciary:

- Can we meet financial aid requests for the coming year?

Strategic:

- Does our financial approach to our market support our mission and values?
- Should it flex along with the realities of how our market is changing?
- What implications of the “barbell effect” must we be able to manage?

Generative:

- What would we do differently if we were to prioritize access over other goals?

Polarity Map: Financial Stability/ Access & Affordability

Long-term Gains from Access & Affordability

1. We impact more students
2. Community diversity enhances learning outcomes
3. Over time, an increase in numbers of students drives financial sustainability.

Major Finding	Recommendations for Schools	Recommendations for Parents
Harmful social comparisons: High levels of achievement and aspirations can foster destructive social comparisons.	Modify divisive school traditions: Cut down on school actions that drive social comparisons (e.g., public class rank).	Minimize comparisons: Reduce grade portal access, and refrain from using comparative language.
High levels of perceived unkindness: Top mitigating factors centered around reducing perceived unkindness.	Reduce unkindness: Create and enforce anti-bullying policies among all members of the school community.	Be a good role model: At home, emphasize the importance of speaking up for “those without a voice.”
At-risk students: Some subgroups (by grade, gender, and ethnic minority status) are especially troubled.	Allow students to pick advisers: Adjust advisory system so students have access to those with whom they are comfortable.	Ensure that children know they’re loved: Identify at-risk groups, and support programs to increase acceptance and belonging.
Ensure the well-being of all caregivers: “First responders” to students are at risk of burnout and must feel cared for themselves.	Foster support: Create regular forums for faculty and staff to support one another in advancing well-being agenda.	Maintain connections: Create support forums for parents to share experiences and maintain connections.
Stakeholder alignment: Schools in which parents, faculty, and administrators worked together were able to develop and execute joint initiatives.	Involve all stakeholders: Collaborate with parents to ensure that they are aligned on well-being goals and initiatives.	Stay involved and collaborative: Regularly engage in dialogue with faculty on how to improve school settings.
Student involvement and communication: Student involvement in design and implementation of initiatives fostered a sense of well-being.	Enable public student feedback: Allow students to provide feedback on classes and coursework; public feedback can inform incoming students.	Foster good, open communication: Engage children in discussion on how to improve their environment at home and at school.

Public Confidence Ratings— Great Deal or Quite a Lot of Confidence

	2019	2020	2021
	%	%	%
The public schools	29	41	32
The medical system	36	51	44
Small business	68	75	70
The church or organized religion	36	42	37
Banks	30	38	33
The U.S. Supreme Court	38	40	36

Confidence is low in most core US institutions.

In public schools, confidence rose during 2020 but fell back to pre-pandemic levels in 2021.

Positioning Around Purpose, Unleashing our Superpower

Moving from Mission-driven to Purpose-driven

A traditional board asks: What is best for our organization?

A purpose-driven board asks: What is best for the desired social outcome we seek?

A traditional board asks: How would this impact our organization?

A purpose-driven board asks: How would this impact all of the players and dynamics within our ecosystem? Will it help us—as an ecosystem—do the most good?

Unleashing our Superpower

The real superpower of the 21st century is our capacity to realign attention and intention on the level of the whole system.

Attention matters because energy follows attention. Wherever you put your attention, that's where the energy goes.

When we bend the beam of collective attention back onto our own process and when we begin to see ourselves through the eyes of others, and the eyes of the whole, then we begin to unfreeze the hardened state of social reality into a more fluid state that allows us to reimagine and reshape reality as needed.—Otto Scharmer, TheoryU

The Power of Systems Thinking

Systems Thinking is a way of analyzing any situation or solution.

It focuses on the way all the parts of a “system” relate to each other and how the system works over time.

It moves us away from looking at isolated events and instead focuses on an organization as a system made up of interacting parts.

When we shift our lens in this way, we are more likely to address the right problem.
